

Aleph Benjamin Noah Green
Candidate for 30th North Carolina Council Shaliach

Holding a position amongst the council of North Carolina alongside other representative counterparts implies more than just conforming to the general expectations and actions of the commonly elected society.

BBYO has worked collectively on an international level to incorporate more education upon their council practices. Such practices emphasize the action of delivering along with promoting the common affairs of Israel to teens. Israel education rests highly among one of the few essentials regarding a well rounded Council Shaliach. I not only plan to promote Israel education through a more compelling perspective but I plan to implement an online program that will effectively inform others. As council Shaliach, I plan to and work alongside others in establishing a monthly podcast. This podcast will be recorded monthly throughout alternating chapters present among the North Carolina Council. The dialogue present within the Podcast will discuss and relate events occurring in Israel on a present-day account. Once the podcast has been recorded at one of the 4 monthly programs through alternating chapters, this visual video will be sent to teens within BBYO as well as the community. Through developing this monthly podcast, I will work to ensure and enhance interests held around relevant israel education.

Shabbat defines one of the few highly emphasized events that socially shapes the cultural definition of the Jewish community. Global Shabbat addresses what it means to stand beside others as a Jew within today's advancing society. Global Shabbat defines a limited time where us teens can reunite amongst the presence of each other for a meal. Global Shabbat defines one of the few essential representations of a North Carolina Council Shaliach. As Council Shaliach, I plan to introduce and establish a theme or cultural thread around Global Shabbat. Such a theme will invite chapters to collectively decide on an idea to physically present themselves within. Not only will introducing and enforcing a theme around Global Shabbat enhance the excitement and general experience of the event but it will advance the number of individuals interested in attending. Themes allow for more excitement and collective representations.

StandUp invites young teen representatives to conform to a single society and collectively work towards one objective in relation to the Jewish Community. Completing acts of service through the long term ambitions of Judaism not only advances teens perspectives on the acts and true meanings of Israel but ensure a lasting impact upon the community. StandUp defines one of the few entailed practices that are called for actively within the BBYO community.

I will work proactively to enforce a more clear and enjoyable perspective upon the general objective of Stand Up programs. Such an action will be pursued through collaborating with all chapters and enforcing competitive aspects around the event itself working towards a single objective. Through incorporating collectively developed chapter teams into StandUp programs, service objectives will become more clear to the teen perspective.
