

Aleph Nurbol Dusenbek
Candidate for 29th Virginia Council Aleph Mazkir

We are not good enough with words to tell it correctly, good communication is like fly fishing. You need to use the right fly. Cast it at the right time and place it directly on the rising trout. That's how you catch the fish. Too often, bad communications are simply the result of those who don't know when and how to use the right flies, and they end up just scaring the fish away. Communication is a two-way process of reaching a mutual understanding, in which participants not only exchange information, news, ideas and feelings but also create and share meaning. My name is Nurbol Dusenbek and I am aspiring for the high and honorable position of your 29th Council Mazkir. I have served as Monarchs AZA's Aleph Mazkir and currently serve as their chapter Moreh. My journey started when I got elected as chapter Mazkir. Monarchs is the largest chapter in the Eastern Region and I had to communicate with each one of its members to promote the interest in attendance of all chapter events, and to reach out to prospective members. My chapter taught me how to contact people in meaningful way and that's great because I love bringing people together. These experiences gave me understanding of the challenges that chapter leadership faces every single day. As a backbone of the Council Board, I will perform clerical and administrative work to support the board. The duties of the secretary are often unseen by the members but can be vital to helping a board stay organized and on track. I understand the importance of the Council Board and how much time it consumes, but I will work hard to get my job done and raise Virginia Council Board to new heights.
