

Samantha Wampold (Seattle – Halom BBG)

Vision Statement

My Sister B'nai B'rith Girls,

We are not only growing a movement and an organization; we are growing a lifestyle. BBYO has continuously served as an outlet for not only myself, but my family to express our Jewish Identities. After our bat-mitzvot, we are told we are done. Nothing else to consider as we are stripped of our duties as young Jewish women. I am here to tell you this is NOT the end. BBYO gives us a time and place to explore our religion and interpret our own form of Judaism. The primary concern is that we have active members in our region who are unable to participate in our events as they are quite expensive. It is crucial to acknowledge that accessibility is a necessity for all members of our region. Every teen deserves the equal opportunity to join with their peers in not only chapter events, but regional and international events as well. I will work alongside my counterparts to figure out how much (percentage wise) of their current balance will be sent towards a scholarship fund for their chapter. We can hold push weeks throughout the year to motivate each chapters alumni to donate along with other people in our communities. Within the next year, I want to hold city-wide auctions where all proceeds are given directly to the ISF. We will motivate our teens to donate to organizations such as ISF, our stand up cause, chapter fundraising, and #GivingBBYODay by utilizing the idea behind incentives.

Mission Statement

To ensure that all teens are given equal opportunities and can participate in all events BY starting scholarship funds in each chapter and working side by side with every counterpart. I want to revamp process in which chapters spend their money and hold fundraisers that can engage new prospects.