Valentines candy grams 	 My Sister B'nai B'rith Girls, Monopoly is a classic game of competition between family and friends that almost every person has played. It is a game about spending money responsibly, saving money, strategizing, and having a good time. These aspects of the game can be seen throughout our region. Rocky Mountain Region truly is my heart and home, and I want to be there for all of you when you need it most. BBYO has always been there for me, and without it, I wouldn't be the person I am today. Together, we can create new fundraisers, raise more money, and plan more successful programs. Organization:

I plan to create a budgeting system that helps chapters keep track of how much money is in their account. I also want to keep track of all events and fundraisers to ensure organization.

Programming:

I will work with chapters to elevate and incorporate fundraisers into their programming.

Judaism:

I intend to find ways to combine Judaism into fundraisers in an engaging manner.

The Four R's:

I will educate MITs about the importance of effective fundraising, as well aim to get regional attendance at all chapter's fundraisers.

Communication:

I will work with chapters to advertise and promote their fundraisers effectively so that the chapters in the region can support each other.

Small Cities:

I plan to help promote Denver chapter engagement with small city chapter fundraisers and events by helping make programs accessible to everyone.
